School Bond Issue On Paper Ballot

The coming School Board bond issue election got a thorough "wringing out" before the County Commission this week with several hands getting into the week's wash.

Most of the conversation stemmed from a type of ballot to be used and additional poll workers needed to man the voting booth on election day.

Frank Sakser, supervisor of voting machines, said he wanted a chance to explain to the commission why the bond issue would not appear on the voting machines. He said there had been criticism over the decision to use paper ballots for the bond vote.

Sakser said it was not impossible to put the bond vote on the machine but that it was impractical. He explained that a lockout system would have to be used which would add to the general confusion and would probably lead to voting errors.

Most of the ballot, he said, is taken up with constitutional amendments and the names of candidates running for office.

John Remsen, chairman of the school board, said he thought the question as to the type of ballot had previously been resolved and that his board had gone ahead with preparation of paper ballots.

J. P. Icard, commission controller, offered a suggested budget (continued on page five)

Andy Would Take The Dime From Bandlow

A bit of political humor cropped up at Monday's marathon session of the County Commission.

Commission Chairman Edward Bandlow called a brief recess in the proceedings and offered to buy coffee for the audience.

Leamon "Andy" Andrews, Lake Worth, a member of the audience, said, "I don't care for the coffee Ed, but I'll take the dime. I'll list it as a campaign contribution."

Bandlow, a Republican and Andrews, a Democrat, are both seeking election to the commission seat now held by Bandlow.

Sunday afternoon at two o'clock funeral services were held at the Canal Point Baptist church for a pioneer citizen of the community—Robert Thaddeus Bardin, 81, who died last Friday.

VANNS RETURN HOME

James W. Vann returned Saturday from Lakeland where he attended the Florida State Accounting Conference for Housing Authorities. Mrs. Vann, who has been the guest of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Mulkey, at Tavernier, also returned home Saturday.

Liquid Refinery Is Now Being Built

North American Sugar Industries, a liquid sugar manufacturing concern, has completed work on a superstructure for a liquid sugar refinery in the Belle Glade area. North American will create a subsidiary called Florida Sugar Refinery, to operate the plant upon its completion.

North American, formerly Cuban American Sugar Co., until that firm's assets were nationalized by the Castro government, operates a refinery in Gramercy, La.

David M. Keiser, company president, said that part of the refining equipment also is in place. The refinery is expected to open early next year.

Keiser said it would have an annual capacity of 100 million pounds of liquid sugar. He said product would be called "Cascade" and would be sold to canners, bottlers, bakeries, preservers and ice cream manufacturers throughout Florida.

Florida Sugar Corp., a North American subsidiary, and other sugar cane growers in the Lake Okechobee area will supply the refinery with raw sugar, Keiser said.

STUDENT MEMBER

Miss Marilyn Mock is the new student member of the Pahokee Woman's Club for the school year of 1964-65.

Vero Beach Is Next Up For Blue Devils

It was a 13 to 6 score last Friday night at Clewiston in the Pahokee Blue Devils first game of the season when the local lads suffered defeat at the hands of Henry county squad. Tonight the Blue Devils are tuned up for a battle with Vero Beach eleven and a large crowd of local fans are planning to accompany the team to the Indian River county seat.

Last Friday night a stout defense and relentless ground attack carried Clewiston to a 13-6 victory over Pahokee Friday night in the first football game of the season for both teams.

Led by tackles Edwin Cato, a sophomore, and Senior Johnny McGee, Clewiston held Pahokee to less than 80 yards rushing.

Pahokee scored its only touchdown in the third quarter when Guard Larry Miller scooped up a fumble near his own 40-yard line and raced all the way for the score.

Clewiston took the opening kickoff and marched in for score. Halfback Berto Morrell and Fullback Henry Bowden carried the brunt of the attack to the four, where Junior Quarterback Mandy Morrell scored on a keeper around left end.

After the kickoff Mandy Morrell intercepted a Pahokee pass on the Pahokee 32 and returned 10 yards to set up the second Tiger score. Bowden carried 12 yards around end and then four up the middle to the six yardline. Berto Morrell skirted end for the touchdown.

J. G. Weeks, program chairman for the special occasion, said yesterday that present plans call for a good program for Monday night.

Through the years the Lions club has made a special occasion out of the reception for the teachers and Monday night will be no exception to the rule.

As an extra added attraction, Mr. Weeks said that door prizes will be given.

Here Is What Transpired At Monday's Meeting Of The Palm Beach County Commission

Palm Beach County Commissioners this week had first hand information that the area is growing by leaps and bounds — they held a marathon meeting which ran into two days to transact business that used to be done in two hours.

The board, which in the past several months has found it necessary to augment their two regular monthly meetings with special meetings and frequent administrative meetings, has not had an opportunity to meet for these weeks.

Monday's lengthy session which ran into a recessed meeting on Tuesday, was necessary to "catch up" on the work load accumulated during the three week period.

Among other actions the board: Authorized printing of 100,000 pleasure maps of Palm Beach County for use at the Welcome Station and for distribution through other outlets. The maps had previously been supplied by the West Palm Beach Chamber of Commerce which bowed out because of a reported lack of funds.

Heard a renewed plea from the Voters League of Riviera Beach asking for sidewalks to serve four schools in the area. The league delegation said it wanted concrete walks but the commission explained that it only puts in asphalt walkways. The League also asked for lights in the Kennedy High School area and assistance from the commission in removing a number of abandoned autos in the Kennedy school area.

Heard a request from the Aera Improvement Committee of the Joint Cooperative Council, asking the commission to spend an estimated $125,000 to construct a boat lift on the West Palm Beach canal. The commission indicated favorable reaction to the request but asked Austin Nelson, AIC chairman to come back to the board with plans or suggestions to finance the project.

Proclaimed Oct. 14 as Haddass Day throughout Palm Beach County.

Proclaimed Oct. 8 to 14 as the Annual Light Bulb Sale conducted by the county's Lions Clubs.

Authorized use of International Airport for an aircraft exhibit on September 24 as part of "Kids Day" sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Adopted a resolution calling for six-laning of Okeechobee Road at West Palm Beach when traffic count in the future warrants the improvement.

Terminal Complex Papers Are Signed

A target date for completion of a new terminal complex at International Airport was set for December 15, 1965 this week as the county commission got set to sign final papers with the consolidated engineering and architectural firms named to design the installation.

The proposed contract with the designers was presented for signing Monday but action was delayed after Commissioner Lake Lytal said he had not had an opportunity to read the proposal.

The commission's liaison committee on the project, said it had drawn two rough drafts of the proposal and a third is in the office. George Frost, county engineer, said he had prepared drafts of the contract and had turned them over to Commissioner E. F. Van Kessel, board member of the liaison committee.

A motion by Commissioner George Warren to sign the contract failed for lack of a second and a substitute motion calling for draft of the contract to be given to all members of the commission for personal review, was passed.

Other actions concerning the airport included:

Instructed County Attorney Harry Johnston to advise the Butler Aviation Company that the county considers the Butler Flying School, Inc., an adjunct of the base operator's company and that adequate insurance should be provided and that flying school revenue should be reported.

Declared that a state of emergency existed following Hurricane Cleo and that some $16,000 was authorized for immediate roof repairs to airport buildings without a time-consuming call for bids on the work.

Voted to offer airport facilities to the State Board of Conservation for use as a research headquarters for beach erosion studies.

State Will Advance World's Fair Money

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Cabinet has agreed to advance money to the Florida exhibit at the New York World's Fair to tide it over the winter.

Comer Kimball of Miami, chairman of the state's World Fair Authority, asked for $400,000 from the State Internal Improvement Fund. The Cabinet agreed to help out.

Kimball said the exhibit owed some $650,000 on the construction of buildings. When the fair closes for the winter, Kimball explained, the authority would have continued expenses but no income.

Originally, the construction mortgage was to have been paid off with profits from attendance. But crowds visiting the fair were slimmer than expected. While the state took in enough money to pay operating expenses, there isn't enough left to make mortgage payments.

Registered Cattle On Sale October 1

KISSIMEE — 60 registered Hereford bulls and 40 registered Hereford heifers will sell at the fourth Jo-Su-Li Farms production sale October 1 at Colquitt, Ga., owner Clarence L. Cross said here today.

The sale will be of special interest to Florida cattlemen, since Cross said he sends up to 80 percent of his sale cattle to Florida each year, from his farm just north of the Florida line.

"Since beef prices are down, cattlemen are looking for bigger, better bulls for their commercial herds, and they want them as cheap as they can get them. So we are trying to make this sale satisfy their needs," he said.

Lunch will be served at the farm before the sale which begins at 1:00 p. m. est. Cross pointed out, and he invited interested buyers to arrive early enough to look over the selection.

In addition to the cattle in the sale, there will be a number of other breeding age bulls for sale to those who may not get enough during the sale.

All the bulls in the sale have been performance tested through the Georgia agricultural extension service. Cross emphasized, and their records will be available in the catalog for the sale.

Twenty-four of the heifers will either have calves at side, or be bred to calve shortly, he said, and the remaining 16 will not be bred.

Sale headquarters for the event will be the Holiday Inn at Albany, Georgia, a short distance from Jo-Su-Li.

Cross said that anyone wanting a sale catalog should write to the farm at Colquitt, Georgia, and one would be sent by return mail.

Development Board Needs Its Personnel

TAMPA—Industrial and tourism leaders agreed recently that there is an overriding need for continuity of personnel in the Florida Development Commission.

But they disagreed on whether the commission should be reorganized into different departments for industrial development and promotion of travel and tourism.

Some half dozen persons testified on these questions before a subcommittee of the Legislature's Governmental Reorganization and Efficiency Committee as it met in Tampa.

Woodrow Todd, manager of the Clearwater Chamber of Commerce, stated the Development Commission has been extremely helpful, but the heavy turnover of its personnel had hindered its performance.

James Healey, vice president of Honeywell Corp. of St. Petersburg, suggested the commission be reorganized into a commission for the economic development of Florida, with separate divisions of industrial development, travel-tourism, agriculture and others.

Fischer Black, vice president of Tampa Electric Co., also recommended a single commission with separate departments for industrial development and travel-tourism.

Committee hearings will probably be concluded during a scheduled meeting in Tallahassee in November.

Commercials now are appearing in the daily Huntley-Brinkley Report on the NBC-TV network. American Dairy Association has participation spots in the show. Off the air, Chet Huntley is a farmer, owns a dairy farm near Stockton, N. J. and is a member of ADA.

6,400 Students Enter University Of So. Fla.

TAMPA—A total of more than 6,400 students registered at the University of South Florida for 1964-65. This is 1,800 more than last year, boosted mainly by enrollment of freshmen from Florida high schools and transfers of 800 students from the state's junior colleges.

About 2,000 of the students are housing in seven residence halls including four completed just in time for opening of classes. The rest commute from their homes in Tampa Bay area.

Millions Collected In Car, Truck Tax

TALLAHASSEE — The state collected $79,412,506 from automobile, truck and other vehicle license tag sales during the first six months of 1964.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arch Livingston said the increase of $24,986,321 over the first six months of 1963 was about normal.

Livingston noted that Brevard County nearly doubled its tag revenue during the period and showed the largest proportionate growth of any Florida county. Sales of tags for small boats and utility trailers and dealer demonstration tags throughout the state showed a decrease from last year.

Miss Janette Harrington of FSU Tallahassee, spent this past weekend as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Harrington.

School Bond Issue—

down for sharing election expenses between the county and the school board. The school board is slated to pay all expenses over and above the expense of running a regular election—an expense paid by the commission.

Commissioner George Warren forecast problems with registering freeholders at the polls and conducting a regular election at the same time. He pushed for additional poll workers.

Louis Morrell, Asst. supervisor of registration, said additional help will be supplied and he outlined a schedule of personnel needs ranging from three extra clerks in the small precincts to six extra in the larger precincts. He said more than 120,000 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the coming election and predicted that about 75 percent would do so.

Morrell said it would be necessary to conduct schools for the additional workers to instruct them in procedures for running the bond vote.

The county Commission took the position that the bond election was the responsibility of the school board and that the commission is offering its full cooperation in helping arrange the bond election.

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Following my report several weeks ago about research to find a means of preventing crop damage caused by redwing blackbirds, I received several highly critical letters from bird lovers.

To illustrate how the redwing has become a pest in other places besides farmers' fields, is the following from a letter I received recently from a lady who lives in St. Petersburg:

"Will it be possible to extend your survey to this neighborhood where these birds have been on the increase for the past three years? There are times when I cannot empty my trash during the day, and when getting to the garage is a major undertaking, to say nothing of being able to hang out laundry or to work in the yard."

"At times I have had to wear a large hat, carry a rake strung with pie tins to even go the few feet to my garage. Yes, I have even had them follow me into the garage."

"What is more, they raise their offspring to be adolescent delinquents and the young soon become as bellicose as the parents."

The lady mistakenly assumes the research I mentioned is to be a project of the Florida Department of Agriculture. It is not. It will be a project of the Wildlife Service, U. S. Department of the Interior, which has a new laboratory at Gainesville.

Her letter continues: "I have called the local police, the Audubon Society (they cheerfully tell me this species often nest five or six times a year) and even Wildlife. No results

"Please, please give us some relief from these birds which I understand usually live in swamps but have made their campaign headquarters in this settled community."

As hurricane Dora began her destructive sweep across North Florida, radio reports of its progress through Green Cove Springs reminded me that one of the state's largest dairies is located there. In fact, it is probably one of the largest in the world, milking some 3,600 to 4,000 cows.

Because power failures are practically a certainty during a hurricane, you might wonder how milking can proceed on schedule without use of milking machines. So, what does a big dairy do?

For one thing, a business that big couldn't afford to be without standby equipment to furnish power. When a power failure occurs for any reason, milking machines continue to operate when the standby power plant is turned on.

At most of our larger dairy farms, standby power is a must. Without it a dairy with several hundred or more cows to milk at regular intervals could be put out of business by a power failure.

Hand milking might solve the problem for a small herd, if sufficient skilled labor is available. But progressive mechanization has gradually reduced the amount of hand labor required on dairy farms, as it has in many other agricultural enterprises.

The modern dairy farmer strives to employ the least labor and the most mechanized equipment he can afford in a continuous effort to increase operating efficiency.

Texas cattlemen attending a beef cattle short course recently were jolted by the suggestion of a Scotch animal scientist that dual-purpose cattle production may be in the offing for the U. S.

"We can no longer afford to raise single-purpose cattle, either dairy or beef," according to T. R. Preston's report on the spread of the dual-purpose program throughout the United Kingdom.

As quoted by Farm Journal, Preston told his audience: "This 'barleybeef' is a profitable business that yields a 20 per cent return on invested capital. It's based on an all-concentrate ration to Friesian (Holstein) bull calves."

"They gain 2 1/2 to 3 pounds a day, reach slaughter weight of 900 pounds in less than a year. Lifetime feed conversion runs less than 5 to 1."

American Dairy Association, Dairy Society International and Japan Milk Association are teaming up to furnish free milk and ice cream to 6,500 athletes, coaches and game officials at the Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Cheese comes in a staggering number of varieties—417 at last count and countless variations. All this from the lowly cow.

Food Inspectors Working Overtime

TALLAHASSEE—Inspectors of the Florida Department of Agriculture have been working overtime to assure consumers of wholesome food supplies in the wake of hurricanes Cleo and Dora, Commissioner Doyle Conner said today.

"In fact, a greatly augmented inspection force was still on the job last week in North Florida," Conner said. "Because floods were continuing in some areas, it wasn't until this week before our emergency food inspections began to taper off."

In areas such as Live Oak, hard hit by floods, damage to food supplies has been heavy. At one retail store there, the loss was 100 per cent and at another, 75 per cent.

Thirty inspectors have been working 12 to 14 hours a day in North Florida where Dora caused heavy damage. Normally 8 inspectors are on the job in this part of the state.

"Food of many kinds in retail stores, wholesale warehouses and processing plants are subject to possible spoilage or contamination by conditions generated by the fury of a hurricane," Conner said.

"Our inspectors remove from consumer channels all products unfit for human consumption. Any that can be salvaged for animal feed are made available for that purpose. The remainder is destroyed under an inspector's supervision."

Power failures that shut down freezer facilities are one of the chief causes of food spoilage. Flooding can cause heavy losses by water contamination. Physical damage results from winds or floods," Conner said, "consumers can be assured that, when business is resumed, the foods in their retail markets have passed inspection and are wholesome."

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burns have returned to their home in Orlando after a week's visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Story and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ramey of Cocoa, were the weekend guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Mock.

Pahokee Baptists Have Study Course

This week the First Baptist Church of Pahokee has been conducting a study course entitled "Out reach for the Unreached" with Rev. Guthrie Colvard teaching the book, and closing on Wednesday. Thursday evening a covered dish supper and installation service was held at the church for the officers and teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wroten and children, spent this past weekend in Naples where they were the guests of her mother, Mrs. Velva Baxter.

 Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include these lines: "The fading forms of matter, the mortal body and material earth, are the fleeting concepts of the human mind. They have their day before the permanent facts and their perfection in Spirit appear. . . Mortals must look beyond fading, finite forms, if they would gain the true sense of things" (pp. 263-264).

Traffic Congestion Will Be Alleviated

A crash program to build additional roads to alleviate a reported traffic congestion problem near the RCA plant has apparently resolved itself without any concerted action needed at this time.
 Commissioner Lake Lytal Tuesday asked board members to approve request for a traffic survey near the RCA plant which the industry had requested.
 Commissioner E. F. Van Kessel said the survey was not wanted and his views were backed by Engineer George Frost who said that RCA had reversed its original request for additional roads.
 The commission had previously voted to build a new east-west road to provide a new interchange on Interstate 1-95—a plan which received the approval of the state road department but was turned down by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. RCA had requested that the interchange be moved in order that the flow of traffic to the plant would not be interrupted.
 Lytal's suggestion that funds that had been drawn from other projects to complete the new road, now be re-assigned to the original projects, drew little response from other members of the board.

Let Your Money Earn 4½% Payable Semi-Annually

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{3}{4}\%$ for the first year and a half; then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{4}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $\frac{1}{4}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payday. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

'65 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan

Chevrolet Impala '65

It's longer, lower, wider—with comforts that'll have many an expensive car wondering why it didn't think of them first. More shoulder room, more leg room up front. Curved side windows, an instrument panel that's a conversation piece. In fact, just about everything's new right down to the road. And even that'll seem newer because the Jet-smooth ride is smoother than ever.

'65 Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe

Chevelle Malibu '65

Here's all that made Chevelle America's most popular new-sized car—plus some new surprises. Like those cleaner, bolder lines. Like the silky way its new ride skims over the choppiest roads. Like V8 power that'll make you think we stole some of Corvette's stuff—which we did. All told, five engines are available from a quieter six to a V8 that comes on 300 horses strong.

'65 Chevy II Nova 4-Door Sedan

Chevy II Nova '65

It may be the expensive-est looking thrift car you've laid eyes on. But thrifty it is. The big difference being that Chevy II's marvelous mechanical efficiency now wears a debonair new look. And offers a new range of engines, including a new 300-hp V8. You could get the idea that saving you money was the last thing we had in mind—if it weren't for that price sticker on the window.

New top-of-the-line Corvair Corsa Sport Coupe

Corvair Corsa '65

How's this for sport with an international flair! The longer, wider design gives all closed models a hardtop roof, along with more shoulder and entrance room. And to go with the racier look, there's up to 180-hp available in the new Corsa series, up to 140 hp in the Monza and 500 series. Also a flatter riding independent suspension, more responsive steering and a wider road stance.
